Daniel Glover has a broad commercial chancery practice, with a particular focus on commercial & insurance disputes, technology, and sport.

He brings a depth of experience following his previous careers in international arbitration, finance, and business administration where his client list included multinationals, NGO's, SME's, Charities, and high net worth individuals. He is also the owner of a Technology business and brings first-hand experience to his work in this sector.

Daniel also accepts appointments as a mediator and sits on a variety of different panels within his practice areas.

Commercial Litigation

Daniel leverages his sector-specific knowledge in sport, technology, and insurance to handle high-value, time-sensitive disputes for a variety of commercial clients.

His practice involves business & insurance disputes, including partnership & LLP disputes, injunctive relief, restrictive covenants, shareholder rights and remedies, restraint of trade and sale of goods & supply of services, insolvency, trustee/probate/estate disputes and claims concerning unjust enrichment, misrepresentation, and fraud.

He also accepts instructions in administrative and public law proceedings, including Judicial review proceedings concerning protection of commercial interests and procurement challenges.

He has experience of acting in commercial and chancery disputes within overseas jurisdictions including the Falkland Islands, Isle of Man, Caribbean, and Channel Islands.

Telecommunications, IT and Data Protection

Daniel is ranked as a Leading Junior in this sector and is one of the few specialists outside of London. His litigation practice regularly involves High Court proceedings within the Media and Communications Courts.

He is particularly sought after for his crisis management work in relation to large-scale data protection incidents and sensitive privacy matters, often involving international elements with the necessity for injunctive relief proceedings. His advisory work is a core component of his practice and is routinely instructed to advise on the compliance and regulatory side of mergers, acquisitions & IPO's.

Daniel's telecoms experience includes contractual issues with services, licensing, communications Act, mobile networks and general regulatory issues.

Within information technology, Daniel has a particular focus on ownership and use of confidential information. His experience however extends to general disputes concerning delay, termination, and performance related issues with IT projects.

Insurance Disputes

Daniel is an experienced member of the team, regularly appearing in the TCC, mediations, and arbitrations for disputes concerning highly technical issues and use of multidisciplinary expert evidence.

He has advised on high value insurance disputes, such as land contamination disputes, construction site explosions, lift failures, flood disasters, subsidence (including tree damage), disrepair and invasive species.

Daniel advises on a variety of insurance related policy issues including liability under Road Traffic Act 1998, MIB claims, material non-disclosure, fraudulent misrepresentation, accidents in foreign jurisdictions and general coverage disputes.

He has a particular interest in the Automated and Electric Vehicles Act 2018, cyber risks and technology related insurance.

Daniel experience includes the Technology, Aviation, Cyber Risks, Employers Liability, Financial Loss, Marine, Professional indemnity, Public liability, Theft, Sport Property and injury policies.

Sports, Entertainment & Media

As a former rugby union player, Daniel understands the pressures associated with elite sport and places a great deal of emphasis on confidentiality and practical knowledge of the industry when advising clients.

As a long-standing member of Sports Resolution Panel, he has dealt with a broad spectrum of sports related legal issues ranging from disciplinary matters through to commercial disputes.

Daniel has significant experience with image rights, commercial contracts, and PR with football. He has worked on deals with a variety of leading brands including Nike, Whoop, Calvin Klein, Meta, EA Sports and Heineken.

His focus within entertainment and media relates to general commercial disputes and issues arising concerning copyright, data protection and licensing.
